YBM introduction and consent

1 Yorkshire Brain Map School Workshop

Information · `study_intro` · `ybm_intro_consent.intro`

Thank you for taking part in this workshop.

In this study, we'll use a special tool called electroencephalography (EEG) to collect information about your brain. We'll put sensors on your head, and they'll record your brain activity. You'll also help collect brain data from another person. This new way helps us gather brain data quickly with help from people who aren't experts. The EEG headset should not feel uncomfortable, so if it does at any point, just let a member of the research team know. EEG is safe, pain free, and non-invasive.

In addition to EEG, we'll also ask questions about your life and how you feel. We made a list of questions that ask about things like who you are, how you feel, and how happy you are. We care about keeping your answers private. We'll ask for your name, date of birth and home address. We use them to keep your answers together if you take part again, to find your answers if you ask us to remove them, and — through a secure service called Connected Yorkshire — to link your answers with your health and education records (we explain this on the consent screen). Your name, date of birth and address are kept apart from your answers. Only the research team and Connected Yorkshire ever see them; researchers looking at the data only ever see a code.

Joining this study is your choice, and you can leave at any time with no problems. If you want to leave, please let a member of the research team or a teacher know.

Our study has permission from the School of Psychology Ethics Committee (Ethics Reference: PSCETHS-1449, Date of Approval: 5/6/25).

The questions take most people about 20 minutes. There's no rush: careful answers matter more than fast ones. Thank you for joining our study! If you have questions or worries, please ask a member of the research team.

2 Please tap each statement to show you understand and agree to it, and that you consent to take part. We'll move on once they're all ticked.

Statements to tick · Required · `consent` · `ybm_intro_consent.consent`

Connected Yorkshire is a secure research service that brings together information from the NHS, schools and councils in Yorkshire, so researchers can study what helps young people's health and learning.

Taking part in this study includes this: we will send your name, date of birth and address to Connected Yorkshire. They use them only to find your health records (like GP and hospital visits) and education records (like attendance and exam results) and join them to your answers.

Before any researcher sees the joined-up information, your name, date of birth and address are taken off and replaced with a code. Researchers only ever see the code, so they cannot tell who you are.

The link continues for as long as the research goes on, unless you ask us to stop. You can stop it at any time by emailing brainpop@leeds.ac.uk — you don't have to give a reason.

1. I understand that anonymised results from this study may be disseminated through conference presentations, publication in peer-reviewed journals, compiled as part of a report, used in future projects, included on institutional websites, presented in electronic theses and may be made available on online data repositories.
2. I understand that my name, date of birth and address will be kept separately from my answers, used only to link my answers with my health and education records as described above, and that I will not be identified or identifiable in the report or reports that result from the research.
3. I understand that if I want my answers removed, I can email the research team (brainpop@leeds.ac.uk) within 48 hours of finishing (by {withdrawal_date}), and my answers will be taken out of the study and not used.
4. I understand that I am free to withdraw at any time without giving any reason and without there being any negative consequences.
5. I have read and understood the information about the study shown at the start of this survey and have been offered the opportunity to ask the research team questions via email (brainpop@leeds.ac.uk).
6. I understand and agree that my name, date of birth and address will be shared securely with Connected Yorkshire so that my answers can be linked with my health records (such as GP and hospital visits) and education records (such as attendance and exam results), and that researchers will only see the linked information with my name, date of birth and address removed.
7. I agree to take part in this study.

Moves on by itself once every statement is ticked.

3 Why your answers matter

Information · `why_accurate` · `ybm_intro_consent.why_it_matters`

There are no right or wrong answers – we are interested in your personal experiences.

What you tell us is used for research on how sleep, screens, and feelings fit together for people your age, and what we can do to help. That only works if the answers are really yours, including ones which may be less flattering.

A rushed or made-up answer causes the overall research picture to be slightly less true, affecting everyone the research is meant to help.

So take your time. And if you'd rather not answer something, you can leave it blank.

We want to note that some questions are about feelings, including difficult ones. You can skip any question, and you can talk to a member of the research team at any time. Your answers are private: your teachers and family won't see them. The only exception is safety: if you tell us something that makes us worried that you, or someone else, could be harmed, we will need to tell your school's safeguarding lead so that you can get support.
